What is Bullying?

Bullying is behaviour that intentionally causes distress to others. Bullying may be defined as "behaviour by one or more children which produces damaging or hurtful effects, physically or emotionally to any individual"

Bullying is characterised by the intention to hurt, frighten or intimidate another person.

As with all forms of harm or abuse, there is no exhaustive list of signs or indicators to watch out for. But these can include: changes in children's behaviour, demeanour, physical appearance and presentation, language or progress.

Bullying can take the following forms:

PHYSICAL pushing, kicking, hitting, threats

VERBAL name calling, persistent teasing, sarcasm, spreading rumours

EMOTIONAL exclusion from a group, ridicule, threatening looks and gestures

RACIST gestures, taunts

CYBERBULLYING the use of Information Communications Technology (ICT), particularly mobile phones and the internet, deliberately to upset someone else.
